Time to Wake Up.

March meetings this year will undoubtedly bring out one of the largest votes ever recorded in Vermont. The two important measures, the state primary law and Perry bill for state-wide prohibition, are to be settled. In addition there will be the usual vote on the question of whether liquor licenses will be issued this year. We know of many men who will vote no on the question of license, and who are against the Perry bill, which means a no vote on that measure also. The question of uniform town accounting will also come up for consideration. —Brattleboro Reformer.

The March meetings this year are of more than usual importance because of the commanding issues which are to be presented for settlement. Yet there has been, on the whole, a state of indifference on the part of the public, and were a stranger to come into Vermont he would find little indication that we were on the eve of passing judgment on matters of public policy which will have far-reaching effects.

The Messenger hopes that the contemporary is correct in expressing the belief that the vote to be cast will be one of the largest ever recorded in the state. It ought to be. Neither prohibition nor the direct primary should be adopted or killed by a vote which in total would be small, with the plurality of the vote (which will decide each proposition) representing only a meagre minority of the enrolled voters of the state.

When the primary was referred to the people, the vote was light, so light that the legislature did not put much faith in it as representing the real sentiment of the state, and it had precedent for so doing, unconsciously, perhaps, for the system exists elsewhere of considering a vote not cast as being in favor of the law still on the statute books.

And this seems a reasonable way of looking at it, for if a man is not interested sufficiently to vote for a new proposition it is a safe assumption to say that he is satisfied with the law which the new proposition would depose were it accepted. Yet there should not be the necessity of interpreting a vote in this way. The voters should discharge their duties at the polls. Perhaps between now and early next month the pet will begin to boil. The Messenger hopes so, for none of the questions up for settlement should be disposed of by anything other than a real expression of popular will. —St. Albans Messenger.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Dr. C. F. Hill Crathern of Boston, who is traveling through Vermont with the painting, "The Master," by Darius Cobb, the well-known Boston artist, is the guest of Rev. Edgar Crossland at the Presbyterian manse on Wellington street. The painting is to be exhibited in the Presbyterian church this evening.

Universal presents the favorite Broadway headliners, Carter DeHaven and Flora Parker DeHaven, in a scintillating drama, "The College Orphan." In the cast are Val Paul, Gloria Fonda and Doc Crane. "The College Orphan" contains rollicking scenes of college life and strife and a real football game between two western eleven. At the Bijou to-day, —adv.

Three Plattsburg, N. Y., men appeared in the city to-day in search of two young women, who have been absent from their northern New York home for several days, although letters received from the pair last week stated that they were married in Barre without funds and would be unable to start for their home across the lake until money for their passage was forthcoming. On the arrival of the men relatives of the young women to-day, they were unable to find any traces of the persons they sought. Police headquarters was asked to aid in locating the pair, but this afternoon it was stated that efforts thus far had been futile. The Plattsburg men are to remain in the city for a few days.

MIDDLESEX

J. B. Hill is ill with the grip. Misses Bruce and Hudson, teachers in East Montpelier, were in town Monday, visiting the primary and grammar rooms. F. J. Eaton was in Morrisville Friday and Saturday, where he purchased a pair of chestnut horses for stage work. George Atkins, who has been quite ill with grip and asthma, is a little more comfortable.

Mrs. A. P. Bigelow and Mrs. George Miles were guests of Mrs. G. T. Miles in Montpelier Saturday.

Carl Weir left Monday night for Canada, where he was called by the serious illness of his father.

George Johnson of Moretown commenced work in the Middlesex creamery Tuesday.

Mrs. Annie Rhodes went the latter part of the week to North Fayston, where she will work for Stephen Nelson.

A Roosevelt Boom.

Presidential booms, and especially Roosevelt booms, are known to be sudden by habit. But none was ever more sudden and few have been more impressive than the Massachusetts boom, engineered over night.

Measrs. Gardner, Cushing, Washburn and Bird took a heroic method of wiping out the Weeks favorite-son campaign when they offered themselves as Roosevelt delegates-at-large. They went as far as they could to put the Weeks sentiment out of existence and bury it.

Gone, too, is the recently advanced plan of sending an untried delegation, with the united Republican forces behind it and with an understanding that either Weeks or McCall might be supported, as the situation directed. There can be no delegation representing a united Massachusetts party now.

And to-day the country, already scorning the Weeks candidacy, and wondering whether the Republican nominee would be Hughes or Roosevelt, is given its first definite light on the Republican situation.

Mr. Cushing is a Republican of Republicans, one of the strong men of his party in this state. Mr. Gardner turned away from Roosevelt at the birth of the Progressive party. Mr. Washburn never was suspected of any Progressive leanings. And Mr. Bird, ex-Progressive, was responsible last fall for the election of a Republican governor.

None of the four ever was in any sense a blind follower of Roosevelt, none harbors Rough Rider sentiment. Their avowed object is to line up Massachusetts for the candidate they think best fitted to represent the Republican party.

Mr. Roosevelt doubtless will be as much surprised as any of his enemies. A candidacy has been in the Roosevelt mind, the public believes, but a Republican inner shrine in Republican Massachusetts would have been the last place in which to look for encouragement.

This is Col. Roosevelt's first call.

In continued silence on the colonel's part, while the country has a chance to do some thinking, we may expect echoes of the Massachusetts voice.

Col. Roosevelt has weakened his position by shouting of our "duty" to Belgium. The European war is not a popular institution over here. But there are nevertheless many Republicans hereabout who would rather send a delegation for an excited Roosevelt than for an impossible Weeks. —Boston Journal.

Fair to-night and Wednesday; warmer to-night; light to moderate variable winds.

TALK OF THE TOWN

See Abbott's display of new suits. Dodge and Carleton are at work re-decorating the interior of the store occupied by Bell and Houston on North Main street.

George Gilman, a former student at Goddard seminary, returned to his home in Marshfield to-day, after spending a few days with friends here.

Come and hear the great orator, the Hon. Malcolm R. Patterson, a sabon friend turned foe, next Sunday afternoon in the Barre opera house at 3 o'clock.

Charles A. Fiske, a 1911 graduate of Goddard seminary, who has been visiting friends in Barre for several days, returned yesterday to his home in St. Johnsbury.

Mrs. Ira N. Houston has given up her position in Waterbury and has joined her husband in this city, where he, in company with L. J. Bell, has recently bought out the jewelry business formerly conducted by Mike Walker.

A. G. Williams of New York, a traveling representative of the company playing "Princess Pat," which is to be presented in the Barre opera house next month, was a guest at Hotel Barre yesterday and to-day.

Among the visitors in the city yesterday and to-day were the following people: T. S. Dean, E. A. Whalen, T. R. Waterman, J. R. Reed and J. J. Kennedy of Burlington, H. A. Fox of Detroit, Mich., F. J. Young of Springfield and Ernest Cross of Holyoke, Mass.

Remember the auction sale for H. J. Slayton of Barre City, of the A. O. Slayton farm, stock and tools, near East Calais, on Thursday of this week. A splendid farm, a lot of nice fresh cows, young cattle, horses, hogs, poultry, crops, farm tools and machinery. See adv. page 7. C. F. Smith, auctioneer. —adv.

Favorable reports are received at Goddard seminary from Daniel Keefe, a Cabot student, who was stricken with black diphtheria while visiting in Huntington two weeks ago. The young man is at the home of his aunt and where, a few days ago, his chances for recovery were thought to be small, his condition at the present time indicates that he will recover ultimately.

Miss Vera Bjork was pleasantly surprised last evening at her home on West Patterson street by a party of her friends, who called to remind her of her birthday. The affair took the form of a valentine party with music and games as prominent features of the entertainment.

A delightful luncheon was served at which time Miss Hazel Mackay, in behalf of the friends, presented her loveliest gold bracelet. Among the musical selections were vocal solos by Miss Barbara McDonald.

Detailed preparations for the annual inspection of St. Aldemar commandery, No. 11, Knights' Templar, which is to take place in the Masonic asylum on Wednesday evening, are practically completed. It is expected that Olin W. Dingley of White River Junction, grand commander of Vermont, will be present and he will probably be assisted in the inspection by George Root of Newport, grand inspector. Other members of the grand commandery may find it possible to attend. A 6 o'clock supper is to be followed by the inspection exercises and a large attendance of knights is anticipated.

The program for the recital to be given at Goddard seminary Wednesday evening, Feb. 16, is as follows: Fantasia in D minor, Mozart; Miss Hollister; Cavatina, Schmidt; Miss Comstock; Etude Opus 25, No. 9, Chopin; Hunting Song from Song Without Words, Mendelssohn; Noctetle, Opus 21, No. 1, Schumann; Miss Hollister; Slumber Song, Burnham; "Dost thou know that sweet land?" from Mignon, Thomas; Miss Gorman; Les Sylphides (The Fauns), Opus 6, Chamade, Walker-Capron; Opus 37, Grieg; Rustle of Spring, Lindling; Miss Hollister; Liebeslied, Henselt; Miss Comstock; La bella Capriciosa-Polonesa, Opus 55, Hummel; Miss Hollister. MONTPELIER

Methodists Ask for Return of Rev. William Shaw Another Year.

At the annual meeting of Trinity Methodist church last evening the pastor, Rev. William Shaw, was unanimously invited to return to the church for another year, and the reports of the officers showed the society to be in good condition. A subscription of $1,465 has been raised toward the church debt and for repairing the structure, and it was voted to make the repairs necessary. The following stewards were elected: G. W. Parmenter, E. W. Bugbee, Henry Holt, C. D. Wells, V. A. Doty, Dr. L. W. Hanson, S. H. Mills, Dr. William Lindsay, Bruce McDonald, S. C. Hutchinson, Charles Birtel, Robert Edson, John Docherty, Wallace Marvin, Elmer Clark and C. C. Taft. The recording steward is E. W. Bugbee; the district steward, V. A. Doty; the trustees, G. W. Parmenter, Henry Holt, C. D. Wells, C. C. Taft, H. S. Farnham, F. A. Hayden, John Docherty and Ira Richardson; the custodian of legal papers, Henry Holt; the finance committee, Charles Birtel, Robert Edson, C. D. Wells, Elmer Clark, G. W. Parmenter, W. D. Cummings and C. C. Taft. The district superintendent, Rev. E. W. Sharpe, was present at the meeting.

Lieut. Gov. Hale K. Darling and Commissioner of Education Mason S. Stone were among the state officials who went to Burlington this morning to attend the funeral of J. E. Cushman, state tax commissioner for a dozen years.

Auditor Horace F. Graham and Levi P. Smith of Burlington arrived in the city this morning to attend the meeting of the state building commission this afternoon. Mr. Smith represents his father, C. P. Smith, who is spending the winter in a warmer climate.

Justice John H. Watson went yesterday afternoon to Brattleboro to be in readiness for the opening of the special term of supreme court this morning.

The will of Mrs. Ellen M. Blanchard, late of Montpelier, has been presented for probate. The will of John M. Tibbets, late of Cabot, was proven to-day and Edwin A. Thompson appointed executor. The will of William P. Thayer, late of Warren, was presented for probate.

An enjoyable leap year dance was held in the Bailey hall last evening, invitations having been issued by a party of a dozen young ladies. Carroll's orchestra furnished music.

C. E. Patterson has finished work in the Cutler studio, where he has been employed for the past year, and left last evening for Detroit, Mich., where he will locate.

Despite the extreme cold there was a fairly good attendance at the regular meeting of the Ministers' Monday club held yesterday forenoon at Montpelier seminary. Rev. E. F. Newell of the Barre Methodist church read an interesting paper on "Christianity and the New Internationalism," and a general discussion followed. The ministers lunched in the seminary dining hall. Those present at the meeting were Revs. Edgar Crossland, E. F. Newell of Barre, Ramson, a missionary from Africa, Kinney, J. W. Hatch, principal of Montpelier seminary, Sweet of Middlesex, William Shaw, Ivan Benedict, Lewis C. Carson, O. L. Shernburne of Montpelier and Dr. Haskell of Palestine.

Miss Margaret Gannon, a native of Ireland, although a resident of Montpelier for over 50 years, passed away yesterday afternoon at the home of her nephew, William D. Fitzgibbons, 27 Franklin street, with whom she resided. Miss Gannon was the daughter of Thomas Gannon and she was born in Ireland 71 years ago, coming to Montpelier when a young girl. She has acted as housekeeper for her nephew and other relatives on Franklin street since the death of her sister, Mrs. William Fitzgibbons, several years ago. The funeral will probably be held at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning from St. Augustine's church with burial in the Catholic cemetery.

An important notice to L. A. A. O. H.: Every member of this society is requested to meet at the home of Mrs. O. N. Granger, 15 Summer street, at 7 o'clock this evening.

UNDERGROUND WATER.

Results of Investigations in District of Waterbury, Conn.

The rapid industrial development of the state of Connecticut in recent years has created many problems relating to the use of water for manufacturing, agriculture, and public and domestic supplies. To obtain data for the solution of these problems the United States Geological Survey, in co-operation with the Connecticut state geological and natural history survey, has for several years been making a detailed investigation of the ground-water resources of Connecticut and is preparing a series of reports on the areas investigated, all of which are to be published in the survey's series of water supply papers. A report on the ground-water resources of the Waterbury area, by Arthur J. Ellis, working under the direction of Herbert E. Gregory, has just been published. It contains full descriptions of the water resources of the towns of Ansonia, Seymour, Oxford, Beacon Falls, Naugatuck, Middlebury, Waterbury, Watertown and Thomaston and a detailed map of the area.

Reserve Supplies for Municipalities.

The excellent waterpower sites along the Naugatuck invited settlers into the Waterbury area early in the history of the state, and the growth of industrial enterprises, although somewhat slow at first, has been very rapid during the last few decades. The manufacture of brass articles and general foundry work rank first among the industries, and water power has played an important part in these as well as in nearly all the other industries in the area. Practically all the surface waters in the Waterbury area are now in use for developing power, for public consumption, or for disposing of sewage and factory wastes; and catchment areas have been acquired at considerable distances beyond the limits of the Waterbury area for municipal supplies. The report shows that in some parts of the Naugatuck river valley there are deposits of coarse sediments which extend more than 100 feet below the bed of the stream and which are broad enough to afford storage for large quantities of water that may be recovered by means of driven wells. Some of the smaller communities, such as the villages of Beacon Falls, Thomaston and possibly Seymour, could obtain their supplies from wells of this kind, and although, because of the availability of surface water, the ground water could probably not be economically used at present as a source of supply by a city as large as Waterbury, the cities of Waterbury, Ansonia and Naugatuck can no doubt obtain supplementary supplies from underground sources when the need for more water arises.

A Well-Endowed Church.

A little church in Westfield has an endowment fund of $14,000 which yields an income of five per cent., or $700. This with the effort individuals have been making should secure for that church an exceptionally strong man. Here is a great opportunity for the church, under the guidance of a trained and competent man, to take hold of community problems and make of that little town a shining example of what the church may be in a rural village. —Barton Monitor.

Taxes due in February	4,384.56
$1,446,962.02

To the above statement could be added over $20,000 of accrued interest. This means a surplus of over 12 per cent., or 2 per cent. more than the state requirements. In other words, for every hundred dollars which you deposit in The Union Savings Bank & Trust Co. of Morrisville, Vt., you have the protection of $120.00 in gilt-edged securities, besides the stockholders' liability. Few people understand that the strength of a bank depends not on its size but upon the ratio of surplus to deposits. This makes us one of the strongest banks in the state, and for this reason we solicit the patronage of people who may be planning to send a part of their surplus funds away from their home bank.
